

Dream Home

This truly is a dream home. The homeowners built a retirement home, with a lake cabin feel, on the water north of Bismarck. It has everything they wished for – a potting room, wine room, even a sunroom – with plenty of space for family.

The classy entry is accented with a ceiling created from crown molding. Hallmark Homes, the homebuilder, was instrumental in fabricating many of the details around the home.

All of the wood throughout the home is knotty alder. Hallmark Homes built the massive fireplace piece and the railing around the upper floor. The fireplace stone is Bavarian Castle Norwich from Boulder Creek Stone Products. The slate tile flooring is heated for optimum comfort. Around 8000 tiles were laid to complete the project.

The kitchen island is a butcher-block piece that was distressed by Klemetson Woodworks. It caused them a bit of distress to harm the wood, but they had to admit the finished product looked great.

The interior designer, Julie Smith of Vlane Vlee, believes lighting makes the room and each room features extraordinary light fixtures. Your eyes are drawn to the eclectic pieces and every one is truly original.

Hallmark Homes designs with the client and worked closely with the homeowners to make sure they received everything they wanted. You can find out more about Hallmark Homes at hallmarkhomesinc.net.
